His passion for literature, films, music and philosophy also feed his creative universe. Essential encounters and the internet have also played a crucial role in his artistic education. These sources of inspiration are as eclectic as the form his work takes.

No medium is out of bound as he goes from drawing to painting, textile work, collages, wooden & stone sculptures, music, sound art & performance, animation & video art installations for which he also create costumes, shoes, accessories... Since 2016 and his emergence on the international artistic scene during the Biennale Marrakech 6, he had four solo shows in France & Morocco. He participated in a series of group exhibitions as well as being represented at several international art fairs.
